

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Educational Diversity Around the World: Global Perspectives on Teaching and Learning

Sponsored by the Graduate ELL Program at the Rutgers English Language Institute, this interdisciplinary graduate student forum opens a space for Rutgers international graduate students to share and discuss personal narratives of lived experiences with higher education in a global context. We invite international graduate students across graduate programs to submit a proposal for a 10-minute presentation, engaging with one (or more) of the following topics:

- experiences with teaching, learning, and the educational system in your country of origin
- cross-cultural experiences of studying at a U.S. university
- opportunities and challenges as an international graduate student and scholar
- issues and problems facing education in a global context
- challenges for the internationalization of higher education and online learning in light of the COVID-19 pandemic
- improving advising and support for international graduate students

PROPOSALS SHOULD INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING:

- presentation title
- name/email of presenter
- Rutgers department affiliation
- an abstract (100 words max)
- description of the presentation (500 words max).

SUBMIT YOUR PROPOSAL BY EMAIL TO:

MARK KEITGES, DIRECTOR
GRADUATE ELL PROGRAM @RELI
MARK.KEITGES@RUTGERS.EDU

All proposals must be received by December 22nd. Applicants will be notified by email of proposal decision.

Note: Presentations will be conducted on Zoom. Creativity and use of multimedia in presentation format is highly encouraged.
